

College of the Coast and Environment
Fall 2017 CEGO Seminar Series

Coast and Environment Graduate Organization (CEGO) is pleased to present its seminar series for Fall 2017.

The seminars series will be held:
11:30 am -12:30 pm
Dalton J. Woods Auditorium
Energy, Coast & Environment Building

All are welcome to attend!

September 1: Graduate Student Presentations

College of Coast and Environment

“Mzungus Out of the Water” by Mario Hernandez & Matt Robertson -

“Ecotoxicological Analysis of Pesticides on Various Aquatic Organisms: Impacts Sunlight and Salinity Impose” by Emily Verbrosky -

“The Coriolis Force Not Discussed in OCS4170 and Its Effect on Upper Ocean Mixing” by Jinliang Liu

September 8: Jimmie Nelson

University of Louisiana Lafayette

“Fish, Flows, and Feedbacks: Understanding Animal Mediated Material Flows at the Ecosystem Scale”

September 15: Paul Klerks

University of Louisiana Lafayette

“Evolution to the Rescue? Research on Adaptation to Stressors (Metals, Heat) in Aquatic Organisms”

September 22: Coastal Connections- 3 Minute Presentations

Louisiana Sea Grant

September 29: Mary Ann Ottinger,

University of Houston

TBD

October 6: Jennifer Dupont,
ExxonMobil (Houston)
“Environmental Risk Management on Mega-Projects in the Oil and Gas Industry”

October 13: TBA
TBA
TBA

October 20: Fall Break

October 27: Christine Cass
Humboldt State University
"Zooplankton of the Northern California Current: Spatial and Temporal Variability in Energy Content"

November 3: Kevin Ringelman
LSU School of Renewable Natural Resources
“Duck Tales: An Overview of the Waterfowl Research Program at LSU”

November 10: Selina Heppell
Oregon State University
“Saving Sea Turtles with Math and Theory: How Endangered Species Management Intersects with Fisheries Science”

November 17: Mike Miner,
Bureau of Ocean Energy Management
TBA

November 24: Thanksgiving Break

December 1: Wilam Subra,
Subra Company, (New Iberia, LA)
“Oil, Gas and Health Impacts on People”